curriculum vitae

Objective

To be the inspiration of others through the creation of garments unparalleled in style, beauty and comfort. The road to this begins by learning and absorbing creativeness from being around and interacting with some of the greatest designers today, from old masters such as Oscar Dela Renta to up and coming stars like Kimi Katarri. Working with new high tech materials and timeless classics, to infusing metal with cloth, and leather with wood. Coming up with designs that are as awe inspiring tomorrow as they were the moment they came of the cat walk. My name synonymous with all that style should be.

Additional Skills

As well as being a great designer I am also very good at marketing and sales, having been awarded the industry recognised Fellowship. I understand the needs of consumers today and can balance that well with the expectations of high class fashion. I am also very good at market and ensuring there is cohesion between the marketing strategy and the products themselves.

I understand technology and the new social dynamic that it brings to fashion along with the integration of social devices and the stylistic nature that they are now adopting.

Interests

- Keens yachts person
- Head of the young fashion designer alliance
